It is said

It is said Humans defeated Thrak, King of Kings, Emperor of the known Cosmos, Champion of Undalla by calling themselves the Undoers.

It is said Humans beat the many faces of Ephilion, Lord of Trickery, by using the oldest trick in the book he wrote.

It is said Humans tore down Uthis, God of the many-footed and launched a Crusade to liberate the Apheliad's humanoid slaves.

It is said Humans brought Kal'en to his knees through a rite of single combat where only hands were used.

It is said Humans destroyed Savantis and all life upon it to end the Ballithian crisis through unspeakable means.

It is said Humans love unconditionally, but hold generational grudges to those who wronged them.

It is said Humans departed to find Urethnia, Queen of the many Gods, so that they could finally bring peace to all races.

It is said Humans will return from their eternal war when we need them the most.
